- Should you need any assistance or have questions along the way, our dedicated support team is always ready to help. Feel free to reach out to us at contact@retailstat.com.
- For our valued RetailStat clients who already use Single Sign-On (SSO) through their respective organizations, your SSO login process will remain essentially unchanged. However following the launch, you will log in via retailstat.com before being redirected and signed in through your company's authentication system.
- POI Data (formerly AggData) will not be included in this initial Unified Login launch, but we are working to implement Unified Login for POI Data very soon. You can continue to access this platform through your existing method of aggdata.com or via retailstat.com.
